

Jason Evans, BA, MA, RCC

After a ten-year career as a teacher, Jason decided to pursue a Masters degree in Counseling Psychology. While completing the program, Jason was a youth worker with Family Services of Greater Vancouver, supporting children and families who had experienced sexual, emotional and physical abuse. This experience was very impactful, so much so that after graduating Jason took a child and youth counseling position with Family Services of the North Shore. Now working in private practice, Jason is excited to bring his education, experience and passion to iGuy.

When he's not facilitating iGuy workshops or counseling, you'll find Jason jamming with his band, or on the tennis court, where he strives to find the perfect balance between competition, mental strength and fun.
